

Talking Therapies (IAPT)

Support for when you experience difficult emotions, such as low mood, anxiety and stress.

What is Talking Therapies (IAPT)?

Talking Therapies is part of the national Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (IAPT) service. It is a free and confidential NHS service for people aged 16 and over who are registered with a GP in Kensington and Chelsea, Queen's Park and Paddington. You can ask your GP to refer you, or you can refer yourself easily online or by phone (details included in this leaflet).

Can Talking Therapies (IAPT) help me?

Talking Therapies (IAPT) provides a range of support if you are:

- experiencing difficult emotions such as low mood, worry or stress
- feeling overwhelmed by anxiety
- struggling with depression, or
- having trouble sleeping because of intrusive thoughts.

You can learn ways to improve your wellbeing and have the space to think about your difficulties and find ways to manage them better.

Talking Therapies (IAPT) can also help if you are living with a long-term physical health condition by finding ways to better manage the practical and emotional aspects.

"My head was like an engine, thinking thousands of things at a time and not being present."

Pierre, Talking Therapies (IAPT) service user

"My time with my therapist has had a remarkable impact on my mental health and well-being. I have been amazed by the progress I was able to make in just a few months."

- anonymous, Talking Therapies (IAPT) service user

How can I access Talking Therapies (IAPT)?

You can refer yourself quickly and easily by:

- completing the form on our website communitylivingwell.co.uk
- by calling 020 3317 4200
- or email us at cnw-tr.clw@nhs.net

Alternatively, you can ask your GP or other professional involved in your care to refer you to Community Living Well.

What help does Talking Therapies (IAPT) offer?

The Talking Therapies (IAPT) team offers a range of different therapy options. The type of therapy you receive will be discussed with you and will depend on your recovery goals.

The therapies available include:

Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) - with the help of a therapist, CBT can help you identify alternative ways of thinking and more helpful ways of coping that are linked to difficult and distressing feelings, such as anxiety and low mood.

Counselling - Counselling can help you with experiences such as bereavement, relationship problems, abuse as a child or adult, depression or low mood, or life changes such as divorce, getting older or retirement. It is a brief psychological therapy in which you can explore difficult, confusing or painful experiences with the help of a clinician.

Guided Self-Help - you and a specially trained clinician work together, using expertly devised self-help workbooks. You will be helped to learn practical tools and strategies to better manage your difficulties. Sessions are available over the phone or face to face.

Couples Therapy - aims to improve symptoms of depression by helping couples build upon the strengths in their relationship and understand the way in which difficulties in the relationship can contribute to depression in one or sometimes both partners.

Online Therapy - SilverCloud is an evidence-based online programme that can help teach you techniques based on Cognitive Behavioural Therapy to improve your mood. Telephone support is provided alongside the online modules.
